Elevating Bathroom Showroom Design with HOMAPAL®

About

Cordes & Graefe Bremen KG, a leading bathroom retailer with over 270 showrooms across Germany, has long been synonymous with innovation and quality in bathroom design.

Their Elements showroom in Stuhr stands as a testament to this reputation, showcasing a seamless blend of high-quality materials and understated elegance. At the heart of this project lies HOMAPAL® real metal surfaces, which have been expertly integrated to create a space that exudes sophistication and comfort.

The Stuhr showroom, often referred to as the ‘flagship’ of Cordes & Graefe’s portfolio, was designed to set a new standard for bathroom exhibitions. Despite the architectural limitations of the existing building, the team transformed the space into a series of striking, high-quality bathroom displays that captivate and inspire.

Contrasts and Accents

The Power of Real Metal Surfaces

The vision for the Elements showroom was brought to life by interior designer Neimke-Dantion Daniels, who sought to create a unique and memorable experience for visitors. In her search for distinctive surface solutions, Daniels turned to HOMAPAL® real metal surfaces.

The design concept revolved around a series of interlocking cubes, each housing a different bathroom configuration. This innovative approach was executed in collaboration with FSL Ladenbau GmbH, who expertly clad the spaces with HOMAPAL® surfaces. The result is a showroom that not only showcases premium bathrooms but also serves as a stunning example of modern design

A Blend of Colour and Texture

To achieve the desired aesthetic, three HOMAPAL® finishes were carefully selected to create deliberate contrasts and accents throughout the space. The walls were fully clad in HOMAPAL® surfaces, each chosen for its unique ability to enhance the overall design.

- Brushed Selenio Brass brings a warm, inviting atmosphere to the space, radiating understated elegance.
- Brushed Selenio Black introduces a striking contrast, adding a touch of noble charm and sophistication.
- Cross Brushed Aluminium provides targeted accents, completing the design with a modern, refined edge

HOMAPAL® real metal HPL surfaces are celebrated for their ease of processing and vibrant colour depth. Perfectly suited for both decorative and vertical applications, these surfaces create a unique sense of space, transforming ordinary environments into extraordinary experiences.

The Cordes & Graefe Elements showroom in Stuhr is a masterclass in how HOMAPAL® real metal surfaces can elevate bathroom design. By combining functionality with unparalleled aesthetics, this project demonstrates the transformative power of premium materials. For architects and specifiers seeking to create exceptional spaces, HOMAPAL® offers a versatile and inspiring solution
